

The 5 Whys of Certification

Lean Six Sigma certification is a great investment in skills, leadership development, and your company's performance.

Need some support for the value of getting Lean Six Sigma certified? We've created the 5 Whys of Certification—using inspiration from the question-asking technique developed by Sakichi Toyoda and popular in Lean problem solving—to guide you to certification.

WHY GET CERTIFIED?

Lean Six Sigma certification enables you to lead successful initiatives and grow your teams and your business.

All certification programs are managed and supported by Lean Methods Group Master Black Belts who are top educators in the industry—and they've been in your shoes, as on-the-ground Lean Six Sigma Leaders, so they know what it takes to succeed.

The methods and tools of Lean Six Sigma are unparalleled in their applicability and success in any organization and environment. Certification gives you the skills, tools and title to bring Lean Six Sigma to your business.

More than just a training company, we are over 150 people worldwide who believe in the power of problem solving and succeeding together. We are accredited by IACET and the International Association for Six Sigma Certification, and our programs prepare candidates for exams offered by ASQ and SME.

We are dedicated to helping you build your capabilities, deliver results and optimize improvements.

By the Numbers...

5:1

ROI for Green Belts

7:1

ROI for Black Belts

$200,000

Median savings per Black Belt project

100%

Satisfied bosses

Sources: "Maximizing Lean Six Sigma ROI," IndustryWeek; "Research: Black Belt Return on Investment," iSixSigma.com; Lean Methods-based on feedback from students

Discover why Lean Methods Group is the choice of Lean Six Sigma professionals around the globe!

Green Belt | Black Belt | Master Black Belt | Lean Leader | Lean Master | Scrum Master